INTERNATIONAL

One hundred and sixty companies have already enrolled in the ExpoDetergo exhibition dedicated to textile maintenance at Fiera Milano from 21 to 24 October 2022. It is a clear signal of the desire of manufacturers and suppliers to meet the industry and to show their innovations for the textile care sector, said the organisers.

Sustainability, digitisation and sanitisation are the three key words around which the project is being built, according to Paolo Pizzocaro, Fiera Milano exhibition director of the event, who said: "The numbers we are declaring today confirm the credibility of an event like ExpoDetergo International, recognised globally as an unmissable event. The world comes here to see what's new in the sector, because it is here that the market can do business and network."

"The large number of companies that have already formalised participation is undoubtedly extremely significant," added Marco Sancassani, president of ExpoDetergo International. "Such a massive participation so many months before the event is in fact a sign of the great vitality of this sector, of its resistance and the desire to get back into the game, which I am sure will find full fruition in an unprecedented edition of the exhibition."

The October event promises to provide a global view of the market and the innovations that companies and their research and development departments have been working on in recent years. Expect to see many of the big names in textile care such as Alliance, Jensen, Kannegiesser, Girbau, Domus, Stahl, Christeyns and in drycleaning/wetcleaning, the likes of Renzacci, RealStar, Pony, Miele, Kreussler, Seitz, Bowe and Barbanti.
